Friends of William Alves were sorry to hear of his unfortunate accident Monday. He fell from a scaffold while working for the B & E Termite Co. at the West Bay Motors. Mr. Alves is now in Community Hospital for a check up of possible injuries, and we all hope that he will get well quick!

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mahony, Mr. and Mrs. John Herbergh, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rose, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jasensky. They all became the proud parents of bouncing baby boys in Palo Alto. This must be baby boy week.

Redwood City says welcome this week to another new baby. Opening Friday is the Pacific Coast branch of the Wisconsin Mortician's Supply House. Now being painted over the door of the company's Main St. establishment is its slogan, "The Bier That Made Milwaukee Famous."

Yes, it's football season again, and soon at the contest between Stanford and Idaho last Saturday were Francis Tinney and Cutler Brown, who made the trip in a hearse, Bill Werder, Dave Schutz, Lou Jones and Donald Ross, who went in the conventional manner.

All the visitors at the San Mateo Fiesta have marvelled at the pure-bred bantams exhibited by Jack Schwede of San Mateo.

"I enjoy my hobby of breeding and exhibiting pure-bred bantams. I have them in Silver Seabrights, Black Tail Japanese, Dark Cornish, and my wife's favorite, White Chinese Silkie. If any of you folks interested in pure bred bantams care to visit my yards at 920 Third Ave., San Mateo, you are welcome. If you like bantams, we like you," Jack has said.

The Daughters of Union Veterans gave a card party Tuesday in Odd Fellow's Hall. A good time was had by all.

Friends of Paul "Red" Fay of Woodside are congratulating him at the various parties given in honor of him and his bride-to-be, Anita Marcus of Marin. They are glad to see him join the ranks of the benedicts, but sorry to hear that he will live, temporarily at least, across the bay near Ross. Woodside's loss is Marin's gain.

Something of a prodigy is the 7-month-old son of Chris Holmes Jr. The baby weighs 25 pounds, crawls, and plays the piano. Next month his parents are going to start him on contract bridge.

30 Years Ago

A woman was injured on the Woodside grade when a "horseless carriage" struck the horse and buggy she was driving.

The board of supervisors considered raising the allowance for a widow with five children from $8 per month to $15 per month. Speaking of the figure one supervisor said "It was alright 20 or 30 years ago, but not now when living is so high."

The Boston Red Sox took the fifth game of the World Series from the Brooklyn Dodgers. The play ever to witness a baseball game, 42,630 persons, attended, and total gate receipts for the series totalled $880,000.

After leading the American League for nine seasons, Ty Cobb conceded the batting championship to Tris Speaker.

The Davies Auto Repair Co., formerly of San Francisco, moved to Redwood City, and owner N. E. Davies settled in Redwood City with his family to run the business.

City Trustee H. C. Tuchen was appointed to represent Redwood City at a meeting of the San Mateo-San Francisco annexation. The plan calls for annexation of Peninsula areas by the city of San Francisco, which would then be divided into boroughs.

Plans were being drawn up for two new buildings—the new county jail on Webster St., and the Sequoia Theater on Broadway.

County Clerk Joseph Nash announced there were 11,836 qualified voters for the primary elections. Redwood City was second in the county with 1583.

The marriage of Walter Ginochlo and Laura Drivon was solemnized by Superior Court Judge Buck.

Mother's Club

At the recent Rainbow-DeMolay Mother's Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Hook on Laurel St., Menlo Park, announcement of installation of officers in the Rainbow Girls and the DeMolay was made. Joan Locker will be installed as worthy advisor in a formal ceremony on Oct. 5 and Bob Langston will take over master counselor duties in the DeMolay on Oct. 19. Both affairs will be held at the Masonic Hall, it was announced, and dancing will follow. All parents and friends have been invited to attend.

At Mrs. Hook's a pot-luck luncheon preceded the meeting with Mrs. Robert Bruce and Mrs. Donald Bogie as co-hostesses. Three new members present were Mrs. H. F. Coykendall, Mrs. S. Lawrence and Mrs. C. F. Rouse. Mrs. S. Klein and Mrs. Dave Stott volunteered to serve on the Community Chest campaign.

Harmony Clan

Harmony Clan entertainers participated in the recent annual Woodside-Atherton Garden tour, when the Rangerettes (Lois and Betty Bean) and the Double H Boys (Harold and Harold Gragg) added a gay bit of the old West with their stringed instruments and voices.

The scene of entertainment was the patio of the Stewart Elliott estate in Woodside, which depicts the early California influence. Its buildings are all of adobe construction, typical of the leisure of the early days.

Songs were selected from a wide range of early American folk songs and popular cowboy tunes.

Last Sunday the C2 unit of the Palo Alto Musical Workshop presented the regular monthly program at the Veterans' Hospital. Taking part were Patsy Marcus, Karen Franklin and Richard Rosell.

Alta Brown Chittenden accompanied the group. They were met at the hospital by Miss Alice Joy, now of San Jose. Miss Joy is founder of the musical therapy work in hospitals and has established several workshops in the Bay Area. Her report was that the work has been very successful and that the good of such a program is becoming nationally recognized. The benefit derived by the patients can not be measured and its long-continued use as a means of rehabilitation is eminent.

A Schol for Spastics

The two schools for spastic children in San Mateo County—operated by different agencies and serving different purposes—were explained Thursday at a meeting of the 50 members of the council of social agencies at the El Portal School on Mills Estate.

El Portal, the new school recently opened in the old carriage house of the Mills Estate, has an enrollment of 11 cerebral palsy sufferers who live in San Mateo County. It is operated by the Crippled Children's Society of San Mateo County.

The other school, located on the Hasser Health Farm near Redwood City, is jointly operated by three state agencies as a diagnostic clinic and a school for intensive training of limited duration.

Reports were made by Miss Melba Miller, superintendent of the state school at Redwood City, and by Sam Merk, president of the Crippled Children's Society. Mrs. George Spanne, secretary of the society, and Henry Hall, assistant county superintendent of schools.

El Portal School will provide training, education and therapies for spastic children of San Mateo County as long as it can be kept going. It is the first, and so far, the only such school to be operated by any county of California.

The state school at Redwood City, on the other hand, provides diagnosis, testing and training for spastic children throughout Northern California. Eventually it will enroll 100 children at a time.

Women's Relief Corps

At the regular business meeting of the Women's Relief Corps held at the Odd Fellows Hall on Friday, Sept. 27, a birthday party was given for members whose birthdays occurred in July, August or September.

The tables were decorated with autumn leaves and flowers and Pres. Francis Hogan and Mrs. Virginia White were hostesses.

Plans were formulated for a pot-luck luncheon to be held on Inspection Day, Nov. 8, when Department President Faye Boone of Bell, will make her official visit. Other officers of the department, Mrs. George Hogan, president of Gen. George S. Evans Corps of Redwood City and chairman of the executive board of the Department of California and Nevada, WRC, and Mrs. Edna C. Swift, co-secretary for the department.

Mrs. Elouise Campbell will be chairman of the pot-luck luncheon.

Women of the Moose

Chapter 601, Women of the Moose entertained Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, graduate regent of San Jose Chapter 623, last Tuesday evening, when she made her official visit to Redwood City.

A committee report was read by Mrs. Ethel Casaretto for the chapter regent. The report was read by workers Bette Burnett, Pasqualini Sodini, Ethel Edmunds, Edna Hunt, Elizabeth Hansen and Frances Butman were acknowledged.

On Wednesday a public card party was given at the Moose Club by the Mooseheart committee with Eileen Weber as chairman. Cards will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Have You a Hobby?

Entry blanks for the Redwood City Hobby Show to be held in the show rooms of the West Bay Motor Co. on Oct. 19 and 20 may be obtained from the Holmquist Hardware Co., the Electric House, West Bay Motor, the Redwood City Recreation Office, it was announced Monday by Alfred "Red" Morton.

The show, which is being sponsored by the 20-30 Club and the park Recreation Department, will include exhibits of model airplanes, ships, trains, racing cars, radio sets, photography, wood carving, stamp collections, needle work, ceramics, metal crafts, puzzles, leather craft, weaving, taxidermy, and any other hobbies.

FIND STOLEN CAR
An automobile registered to an Oakland man was found burning on Canada Rd. near the County Regent Home Friday night. The County Forest Service extinguished the blaze but the car, which had been stripped, was a total loss.

The car had been stolen on Feb. 2.

YMCA Expanding

Expansion of the YMCA program to include two groups not now provided with organized youth leadership and activities is planned by the Peninsula branch YMCA.

One will be the Indian guides, a father and son group program which has been successful in the East. The Peninsula branch will be one of the first on the West Coast to inaugurate it.

The other will be a program for young adults, already underway informally in Redwood City.

The two projects were outlined to the board of managers of the Peninsula branch at the first fall meeting by V. M. Robertson, executive secretary.

The Indian guides project is a program of adult education as well as character education of boys, according to Robertson. The beginning age for boys in these groups will be 16, and the program will time over into the nine through 12 age range.

Boys must be accompanied by their fathers at meetings. No boy or father is permitted to join or attend meetings without the other. The program is designed to "help the fathers grow up with their sons," according to Robertson.

The Indian guides already have expressed interest in the program.

The program for young adults would provide activities for those over 18, the limit of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y programs.

It would be of particular value, according to Robertson, in helping young veterans returning to civilian life.

Jim Batchelor, Redwood City staff member, described the work started here. He said several college age men and women could be employed in the Y's quarters and the group has been holding weekly social get-togethers.

The board of managers, in response to a recommendation from its budget committee, approved a plan to hire several part time leaders to supplement the work of the present staff.

Because of budget limitations, the branch will be unable to employ as many full time workers as desired, the board decided it would therefore be advisable to employ part time workers who can function under present staff members, rather than to use available funds for one person.

The board pledged full support of the Community Chest fund drive.

Some Books on Dogs

The Redwood City Library, in cooperation with National Dog Week, has announced a list of books on dogs, which includes the following books:

American Kennel Club Book of Dogs; All Dogs Go to Heaven, by Beth Brown; Alaska Trail Dogs, by Elsie Caldwell; Valiant Dogs, by Frances T. Clark; The Fireless Dog, by John G. Starnes; The Story of a Trapper's Dog, by Thomas Hinkle; My Dog Lamon, by Raymond Holm; Dog of the Desert, by Thomas Hinkle; Photographs by Ylla, by Camilla Koffler; A Man and His Dog, by Thomas Mann; Journey of Tapola, by Robert Nathan; All the Dogs of My Life, by Mary A. Russell; Training You to Train Your Dog, by Blanche Saunders; The Ugly Dachshund, by Gladys Stern; Mongrel Mettle, by Jesse Stuart; A Book of Famous Dogs, by Albert Payson Terhune; Dogs and Mine, by Diana Thorne; The Long Whip, by Jane B. Walden; Dog Days, by Stewart Edward White; Flush, a Biography, by Virginia Woolf.

Couple Is Arrested

Richard E. Comstock, 35, a railroad fireman, and Joan Barbancia, 40, 716 San Mateo Dr., Burlingame, were in the San Mateo County Jail Saturday, booked by Redwood City police on a charge of vagrancy and on route to the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics for investigation of drug addiction.

Mrs. Barbancia, a practical nurse, was reported as missing to the sheriff two weeks ago by her husband, John. The couple was traced to a Santa Cruz hotel and then to the Sequoia Hotel in Redwood City where Officer T. R. Morgan made the arrest Friday night.

The practical nurse, police said, had been employed at the San Mateo County relief home.

Gambler Pleads Guilty

John Nigro of Redwood City pleaded guilty Friday in Judge Rupert Johnson's San Carlos City Court to a charge of operating a bookie joint in San Carlos, and his case was sent to the superior court for sentencing.

The case against William Nunn, owner of the highway restaurant in which Nigro carried on gambling operations, was dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence.

Both Nigro and Nunn were arrested Aug. 29 in a raid by San Carlos police on Nunn's establishment, Bill's Windmill.

Sandra Henson Hurt

Two-year-old Sandra May Henson is in Santa Clara County Hospital today with a possible leg injury received in a two-car collision Friday night on Bayshore Hwy. at Bay Rd.

Her mother, Mrs. Esther Henson, of Sebastopol, also in the county hospital, sustained lacerations of the forehead. Both were rushed to Palo Alto Hospital and later transferred to the county hospital.

Driver of the other car, John Hubert Mee Jr., 30, of Oakland, was reported as uninjured.

Girl Scout Leaders

The first meeting of the Sequoia District Girl Scout Leaders' Assn. was held on Wednesday from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. at the Sequoia High School in the girls' club room.

The theme "Ten Program Fields of Scouting" was discussed and suggestions were made. Greeting members of the district was Mrs. F. S. McKenzie of Belmont.

Mrs. James Butler of San Carlos, Mrs. J. C. Davenport of Menlo Park, Mrs. Fred Kubes of Redwood City, Mrs. L. E. Chapman of San Carlos and Mrs. Donald Maclean of Atherton.

Officers for this year are Mrs. Chapman, president; Mrs. Kubes, vice president; Mrs. R. A. Leonard, secretary; Mrs. F. A. Lefter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clara Cohn, treasurer; and Mrs. G. S. Findlay, librarian.

An assistant planning committee, which includes Mmes. C. W. Cadigan, S. L. Keisel, Jack Kramer, L. C. Scottford, R. Lubich, and Donald Maclean.

San Carlos Council

The San Carlos City Council Thursday night introduced an ordinance granting the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. an irrevocable, indefinite franchise to be the sole supplier.

If the ordinance is adopted, the company has agreed to pay the city $2000 for each franchise, plus two per cent annually from its gross earnings in the area, which, according to Mayor Patrick J. Kearns, who negotiated the agreement for the council, will amount to approximately $200,000 yearly.

According to Mayor Kearns, the P. G. & E. for all practical purposes already has the benefits of such an ordinance, but the city is not profiting. Previous requests of the company for the monopoly were put off for lack of a satisfactory offer, and the present arrangement was only reached after bargaining, he explained.

The mayor announced that he is working on other ways and means to get more revenue for the city "with the least body at large," and declared the financial difficulties are troubling nearly every city in the state.

The council introduced an ordinance approving the annexation of the Oak Park Quarter Acres after canvassing the 22-5 vote in favor of annexation.

Mayor Kearns welcomed "these new citizens into San Carlos," and congratulated Mrs. J. S. Carter on "the excellent work she has done in getting this property into the city."

The council also: 1. Introduced an ordinance officially establishing the 1946-47 tax rate of $1.16. 2. Ordered City Atty. Clark Anderson to prepare a report stating the council's attitude on the city's denial of a building permit by reason of a tree on city property being in the way.

3. Approved a 6-cent per mile compensation to Rec. Dir. Warren Hayden for the use of his car on city business, such compensation to be paid on the basis of a monthly mileage and trip report submitted by Hayden to the Recreation Commission, and not to exceed $25.

4. Heard a report from Burton that 32 street lights in San Carlos are out of order. The city clerk Beatrice Roberts wrote a strong letter to the P. G. & E. urging that the lights be fixed.

5. Referred to Councilman Truman S. Stevenson for appropriate action the case of School Director Ruth Melendy asking street signs and markers on Cedar St. for the White Oaks School.

6. Referred the previous motion regarding the lighting of Laurel St. and passed a motion calling for lights on both sides of Laurel St. from Arroyo Blvd. to Holly St., and on the east side of Laurel St. between Arroyo and Holly St.

7. Put off discussion of a prefabricated house building permit until the next meeting of the house sections have been supplied the building inspector.

8. Introduced an ordinance amending the city employee retirement plan contract so as to permit participation of the San Carlos Fire Dept.

To Mr. and Mrs. Silverter Withington, 103 Locust St., Redwood City, about the fire in the Palo Alto Hospital on Sept. 25.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 546 Sixth Ave., Menlo Park, a son was born at the Palo Alto Hospital on Sept. 25.

To Mr. and Mrs. Russell Manning, 501 Spring St., Redwood City, a daughter was born in the Palo Alto Hospital on Sept. 24.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Axell, 164 King St., Redwood City, a son was born in the Palo Alto Hospital on Sept. 24.

To Mr. and Mrs. James Seufert, 205 Euclid Ave., East Palo Alto, a daughter was born on Sept. 24 at the Palo Alto Hospital.

The child's parents were visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayes, and Mrs. Edna Corsi of Redwood City. He had two brothers, Albert Michael and George Corsi, and a sister, Melody Corsi.

The services and interment were held under the direction of the Franklin Cross Mortuary, in Holy Cross Cemetery, Menlo Park, at 9 a. m., Tuesday.

HALT GRASS FIRE
Redwood City firemen extinguished two minor fires Saturday evening. At 5:27 p. m. they put out a grass fire on James Ave. between Grand and Hudson Sts., and at 10:20 p. m. they put out flames in the cushions of an automobile in the Welter Motor Co. parking lot.

An Oregon Honeymoon

Now honeymooning in Oregon are the newlywedded Mr. and Mrs. Kim Rush of Redwood City (the former Helen Bernes), who were married last Tuesday morning in the manse of the Congregational Presbyterian Church in Reno, Nev.

The bride, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garland Barnes of Winston-Salem, N. C., who came to Redwood City four months ago to make their home.

After a wedding breakfast with green suit, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diel of 250 Myrtle St., Redwood City, mother and stepfather of Kim, accompanied the young couple to Reno. Also present was Kim's stepbrother, William Diel, Mrs. Diel, as attendant to the bride, wore a blue ensemble with a corsage of white gardenias. The Rev. C. Rice performed the ceremony.

Following the rites, the wedding party motored to Lake Tahoe. There a wedding breakfast was served at the Tahoe Tavern. The newlyweds then left by motor for their honeymoon. They will return to make their home in Redwood City.

The bride was graduated from high school in Winston-Salem, which coincidentally is the same location as that of a former plan manager by Kim's great-great-grandfather.

Kim was born in Redwood City and attended Sequoia High School. He was employed by Universal Studios in Hollywood until his entrance into the navy in 1942. He served in the submarine service for 21 months during the war and was discharged early this year.

He is the brother of Laverna Lyster, star in Earl Carroll's Vanities, Carol Rush and Rex Bussert. He is the grandson of Mrs. Flora Rush of Seattle and of Mrs. Kathleen Ludwick of Oakland.

A New Invention

San Carlos is one of six Bay Area cities of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. chairmen, an experimental car-to-home radio telephone stations, which were approved for commercial service Friday by the Federal Communications Commission.

The San Carlos station is a receiver set, mounted on a pole on the recently-burned hill between San Carlos and Belmont. The station will receive calls from automobiles equipped with the radio-telephone apparatus, and will relay these calls by ground line to a control center in San Francisco, telephone company representatives said Saturday.

Calls from homes to automobiles will go by wire to the control station and from there to a transmitter in San Francisco. This transmitter will broadcast return conversations directly to the automobile receiver sets.

While the San Carlos station, receiving stations have been established at two San Francisco points, two Oakland points and one Sausalito location.

A car-to-home service is not a new invention, having been used for many years in ship-to-shore operations. The FCC's approval of the service is a landmark of post-war telephone technology.

Transmission of conversations will be made on high frequency wave lengths through the static-free frequency modulation system. When FM set-up is completed, a commercial market for home use it will be possible to listen in on conversations, just as it is now possible for persons with short wave radios to listen in on ship-to-shore and fishing boat conversations.

R. E. Hambrook, vice president and general manager of the company drew an easy picture of how the service will work.

"Someone in a car dials, or calls 'long distance,'" he said. "He then asks for the mobile service operator and gives the number assigned to the vehicle. The operator completes the call over telephone lines to the transmitter, thence it goes out by radio. A bell rings and a signal light flashes on in the car, and the driver then picks up the phone on his dashboard."

Hambrook predicted that ambulances, delivery trucks, contractors, newspapers and food distributors will be among the first to use the system of radio-telephone transmission of the equipment was made during the Berkeley hills fire last week, when a unit in a fire department ambulance proved invaluable.

Difficulties in acquiring individual set equipment has slowed the plans for expanding operations on a commercial basis, but tariff rates, soon to be placed before state regulatory agencies, will be set in the near future, the company said.

Court Madrone

The 49th anniversary of the founding of Court Madrone 158, Foresters of America, was celebrated Wednesday night with an initiation of five new members and a social gathering.

Initiated by a visiting degree team from Court Livermore were Stanley Stetson, Enrico Tardelli, Joseph Mann, Antonio Cortese, and Stanley Larsen. Grand officers witnessing the initiation were Past Grand Chief Ranger William Armstrong, and Grand Senior Woodward David M. Bothwell of Livermore and Dep. Grand Chief Ranger Leo Gragani of Court Colma.

At the social which followed old times Theodore Tollman, Pete Tardelli and Leo Paso were honored. Refreshments were served under the direction of Alfred Garfoll, chairman.

Sunday Sept. 29, a joint picnic will be held in Elwood Park for members of Court Colma and Court Madrone. A baseball game between the two groups will be staged. Chairmen for the picnic are Edward Robertson and Pasco Balzarini of Court Madrone and Gino Benedetti of Court Colma.

Beverly Jennings Feted
Mrs. James McKay of 429 Ewer St., entertained at a bridal shower in honor of Beverly Jennings, bride-elect of Joseph Goetz of Redwood City, last Sunday afternoon.

The young couple, whose engagement was announced recently, have not, as yet, set a date for their wedding.

For the shower the mantel was decorated with white asters and silver leaves. A large decorated box contained the gifts, and refreshments were served on individual trays, each containing a hand-made favor for the guest.

Attending were Mmes. Ann Jennings, mother of the bride-elect; Frank Goetz Sr., the prospective bridegroom's mother, and Frank Goetz Jr., Leslie Feusier, John Brown, Martha Bernasque, William DeBenedetti, Otto Peckman, Gene Johnson, Tom McKay, Marjorie Snyder, and the Misses Jean McKay, Ellen Goetz, Barbara Wenter, Sheila Feusier, Mildred McKay, Dorothy Jean Cerqui, Delores Donovan and Marjorie Sanders.

He'll Study Electronics

Milton T. Hamasaki, second class of Selby L. A., Atherton, now is studying to become an electronic technician's mate at the Alameda Naval Base.

He just returned to the United States after serving for several months aboard the 35-ton aircraft carrier USS Antietam. This was his first trip to the Antietam made to the United States since the end of the war.

The carrier participated in ceremonies granting and celebrating the independence of the Philippine Islands, and visited the ports of Eniwetok, Guam, Siapan, Okinawa, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Tokyo and Yokohama.

Milton entered Palo Alto High School in January, 1945, after returning from a relocation center, and was graduated in February, 1946. He joined the navy and took his boot training at San Diego. First stationed at Treasure Island, he later went overseas.

An Ocean Voyage

Mrs. Milton G. Thompson of 355 Lowell St. is another localite, who will board the USS Monterey for Australia. Mrs. Thompson is returning to her former home in Sydney for the first time in 18 years to visit her mother, Mrs. Ethel Hopkinson, and her brother and sister in Sydney.

Her two sons, Robert, who attends Bellarmine, and Jeffrey, a student at Mt. Carmel, will remain with their father, who is connected with the Matson Steamship Lines.

Mrs. Thompson, who expects to be away for a few months, has two children, Robert and Penelope, on the boat tomorrow. Mrs. Walker is also traveling to Australia from Redwood City to visit her parents.

An Honor for Putnam

Harold L. Putnam of Burlingame has been elected president of the San Mateo County Republican Assembly, succeeding Gilbert G. Wagner of Hillsborough.

Wagner resigned because of business connections which will keep him in the south.

Damian L. Reynolds of Hillsborough was elected first vice president and Larry K. Hatlett of Atherton was elected second vice president.

Putnam appointed Enoch L. Richardson of San Mateo as general campaign chairman of all Republican organizations in San Mateo County. Walter A. Burke, also of San Mateo, was named chairman of the assembly promotion and publicity committee for San Mateo County.

Beets When Young Excel In Flavor and Nutrition

Both Tops and Roots of Young Beets, Garden-fresh, Can Be Cooked Together.

When beets are young, you eat the entire plant, tops and roots; and non-gardening friends will rave about this delicious dish, which those who buy their vegetables in markets can never know.

By sowing a four weeks' supply every four weeks, you can enjoy young beets all summer long. There is seldom trouble in growing them; but if yours grow too slowly, and have too much red and yellow coloring in their leaves, it is due to soil that is too acid. A little lime spread along the row and washed in will correct this.

Seeds should be sown an inch apart, covered half an inch, and the soil pressed well above them. The tops are at their best when about six inches tall; later they become stringy. For an early harvest, seed is sometimes sown indoors and plants set out in the garden when six weeks old. They will stand light frosts.

Each beet seed is really a cluster of seed, and where it is sown several plants will usually grow. For the quickest development of the roots, these should be thinned out promptly; but if the tops are to be eaten, thinning may be delayed until the plants are six inches tall, when the leaves are at their best.

Beets left to mature should stand four inches apart. While of highest quality when young, not much larger than a golf ball, older roots retain their sweetness and are excellent for beet soup and pickles.

Beets can be sown as soon as the ground has been prepared. Germination may take eight to ten days, and may be delayed by dry weather, as the seeds require more moisture than some to get them started. The government standard germination percentage is 65 and good seed does not often exceed that.

Beet tops are among the richest of vegetables in Vitamin A, and also have a good portion of Vitamin B and C. The roots have Vitamin B in fair amount; with a little Vitamin C. There are many excellent varieties, some maturing in 55 days from the time seed are sown, others taking as long as 80 days. For table quality of both tops and roots, several sowings of an early variety are recommended.

Stanford Journalism Head Backs Privately-Owned Press

There is no substitute for the privately-owned press in this country, Dr. Chilton R. Bush, executive head of the Stanford Division of Journalism, told the Kiwanis Club yesterday in a talk in observance of National Newspaper Week.

"We must protect our free press with whatever imperfections it may have as a social instrument," he declared, and warned:

"If our people are sold a false bill of goods that our press cannot be trusted, freedom of the press will die and with it all of our other civil liberties, including freedom of speech, freedom of worship and freedom of assembly."

The Stanford professor said that the press is free from government control, political party and special interest control, and relatively free from advertiser control.

"It is not entirely free, however, from the caprice of its owners," he said, adding that a few egotistic newspaper proprietors consider themselves omniscient and decide what the public shall be permitted to know and not know."

Advertiser control of the press, he asserted, is mostly a myth in this country.

Only the publisher who is operating on the profit margin is subject to advertiser control," he said. "The press is as free as it wants to be because it is financially independent of outside interests."

The speaker pointed out that in France before the war the press was corrupt because there was not enough advertising to support a free press and newspapers accepted subsidies from private interests, the French government, and foreign governments, including those of Mussolini and Hitler.

The Stanford speaker paid tribute to the high character of the proprietors of Peninsula Newspapers, Inc., declaring:

"The men who operate these papers are good business men, but they also look upon their proprietorship of Peninsula newspapers as a public trust."

City Manager Works On New Salary Plan; Need More Revenue

City Mgr. E. W. Blom Tuesday was working up a new salary schedule for Redwood City city employees following a meeting Monday night of employees and city councilmen in the city hall.

At the caucus session, five employee representatives demanded what Blom termed "substantial" increases to cover rising costs of living. Blom pointed out today that there is no doubt that increases are necessary. The city manager said that between Apr. 15 and Aug. 15 the cost of living index rose from 134 to 147.2 in the San Francisco Bay Area — one of the largest increases in the nation.

Since July 1, 1941, when the first salary ordinance was passed by the city, the cost of living has increased 41 per cent, he continued, while salaries for police and firemen have increased only 33 per cent.

Adjustments, Blom said, would affect all city employees.

Between 1941 and the present the salaries of other city employees have also risen from between 22 per cent and 80 per cent. The 80 per cent increases all went to laborers.

Facing Blom is also the problem of finding funds with which the city can pay the increased salary rates. Held to a $1 tax rate by the city charter, the city this year will operate on a deficit. In the 1946-47 fiscal year budget approximating $8000 was set aside for increases but this sum, Blom said, would be just a drop in the bucket compared to the funds the increases will call for.

However, some positions called for in the 1946-47 budget are as yet unfilled and Blom said that possibly the city may not fill them in order to save the funds set aside for them to pay the increases. This will result in a reduction in the amount of service the city government will provide.

Final solution, Blom repeated, lies in finding additional sources of revenue for the city. Blom first gave this opinion when presenting the 1946-47 budget which includes a $12,000 sum with which the city will reassess taxable properties. The reassessment has been made since before the war and during that time values of some city properties have increased far beyond the amount they are not assessed at for taxation.

Representing city employees last night were Joseph McSherry, fireman; Sgt. Sylvester Douglas, policeman; Miss Margaret Goodlow, librarian; Charles Curran, corporation yard; and Stephen Kreiss, city hall employee.

Gardening Tips

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

Last Wednesday morning I was master of ceremonies for a Party Time show for the California Assn. of Nurserymen in convention at Hotel Claremont, Berkeley. We had a public address system, three microphones, and in every respect the party was much like my daily afternoon clambake, except that it wasn't on the air. The more than 200 nurserymen proved a fine group for audience participation.

Naturally, all questions had a garden twist, and one which was asked quite facetiously drew an answer from Jack McDonnell which is worth passing on. The question read: "What should a nurseryman tell a customer who reports that a shrub planted 12 months ago has died and she wants her money back?"

McDonnell's answer was that while accredited nurserymen, always try to make adjustments agreeable to buyers, and that on plant material should be made to the nurseryman from which it was purchased within 30 days after the sale. Something for you to remember, in justice to your nurseryman.

Oliver Kehrlein was on the microphone then, and he put a facetious question to the nurserymen's president, M. J. Decker, who was in California. "What does a nurseryman tell a customer who says she makes every move in the garden exactly according to directions, but nothing will grow worth a cent?"

Decker's answer was that if you told you it was a light affair, this particular half hour Party time. You'd be surprised, incidentally, how often that question is asked in all serious earnest.

Moulton replied that the correct answer is either that too much water has been supplied the garden, or not enough, which ever seems more probable. He was joking, of course, because without more information, not even the pappy of all horticulturists, L. H. Bailey, could answer that one.

William Hub of Piedmont wants to know the proper time for digging gladioli corms, and the depth at which to plant fuchsias. It's best to wait until the foliage begins to die back on the gladioli. Wait until all growth has stopped before disturbing the corms.

In moving any nursery stock, the general rule is to dig a hole much larger than the root ball, and fill it with good soil mixture back to a depth so that the plant will be held at the same level it enjoyed before.

Frances Kendrick of Richmond asks where one can buy the Meyer Lemon and the Strawberry Tree (Arbutus unedo). Nearly any nursery should supply the Meyer lemon, but not many stock the Strawberry Tree. The best way is to ask your regular nurseryman to find one for you. After all, he's duty bound to make a try for his customers.

Mrs. W. M. Ramsey of Hayward makes a fine report on yellow tomatoes. Hers yielded at least 10 pounds per vine this summer, and she likes the flavor as well as the color. In order to keep the moisture at the roots, she inserted tin cans near the stem of each plant early in the season while the roots were still small. The cans were punched in the can near the bottom, on the plant side, to let the cans full of water at all times.

After a while, the soil gets moist and only enough seeps through to give the plants the necessary water. And then Mrs. Ramsey asked what can be planted at this time in the vegetable garden. So here's a list of enough to start with:

Nantes Improved Coreless Carrots. They have stronger tops, not broken so easily. Also, the Chantanel Red Cored Carrots. Points tapered more, carry more, and are better at crown, but I don't think the flavor's as good as the Nantes.

Detroit Dark Red Beets, Chinese Cabbage, spinach, head and loose-leaf lettuce, bunching onions, Camelli plants, cauliflower and cabbage, radishes, Swiss Chard, rutabagas, turnips, telephone or bush peas better yield per square foot of garden from the telephone pole peas edible pod peas, endive.

To the greenhouser who asked for another start of Maracoon corn seed. Sorry, but it's much too late to plant corn now.

But you'd better keep in touch with this column. Another seed offer will be coming in the near future.

It's time now to plant a variety of sweet peas which is just being developed here in California, and which tests show will be a long step ahead in our march toward finer garden material. This new variety is called Cuthbertson Sweet Peas, and the international ally recognized horticulturist and plant breeder, Frank G. Cuthbertson, who lives in Burlingame.

In 1931 Cuthbertson was looking over the sweet pea plantings in the Salinas field trials of the Federal Morse Seed Co. when he noted a seedling with remarkably strong vine growth and exceptionally long flower stems. The flowers themselves were far from outstanding, a dull blue you wouldn't bother to pick for a bouquet.

But Cuthbertson wanted to see if that vigor and ability to produce long stems would carry over to offspring, and by 1933, he had made sure of that. So the next step was to try breeding the sweet peas so as to save the good qualities, and at the same time, to improve the flowers. He knew that without attractive flowers in a choice of good colors, the amazing growth of the vines wouldn't be much more valuable than a weed.

Followed more than 10 years of intensive hybridizing, Cuthbertson made an innumerable crosses with the beautiful Early Flowering strains. His goal was to establish a wide and reliable variety with wide choice of color, separate colors, and as a bonus, a teddy bear chere as a plant breeder could set up for himself.

As early as 1940, developments were to the point that the new Sweet Peas were put in competition in the All-American Selections, under a trial name—and they won high honors. But Frank Cuthbertson still kept working, and then in 1944 and 1945 he sent seeds to the Scottish Sweet Pea Society where they were awarded gold and silver medals.

Now, after 15 years of careful development, this new variety is finally introduced to the most critical group of all—the American amateur gardeners—in a choice of 12 separate colors, as named varieties: "Tommy" (blue); "David" (bright rosy crimson); "Crisp" (clear pink); "Marion" (cream, black seeded); "Kenneth" (crimson); "Frank G." (lavender); "Jesse" (mauve); "Lola" (rose pink); "Katie" (rosy cream pink); "Evelyn" (salmon cream pink); "Celine" (scarlet); "Janet" (white, black seeded).

Frank was very smart to hold off introduction of the Cuthbertson Sweet Peas until the goal had been attained, and until the war was over, and the gardening season was about an inch apart and one and a half inches deep. The vines should start flowering when they're about three feet high, and will continue as long as the vines are tall.

With all Sweet Peas, it's safest to treat the seeds with one of the chemicals now on the market to prevent rotting or infection from soil-borne fungi. Don't use the chemicals to do the trick, but I don't think it's on the market right now, and the new brands of chemicals are an improvement anyway.

public not only free to, but duty bound to improve the attractiveness of their homes and gardens. The Cuthbertson Sweet Peas should be planted immediately should be planted next spring. They're quite resistant to heat, so they'll continue to bloom for a long period. I think that if you plant them in the South, you'll want outstanding results, and you can have them, if you'll take a little extra care in preparation of the seed bed.

You'll remember that all Sweet Peas do best if planted in a bed that has been cultivated to a depth of 18 inches to 2 feet, all the while the seeds are in the ground. If a trench just 6 inches deep is dug and filled with a mixture of well-rotted manure and good loam.

The location is ideal when the vines get morning sunlight but no direct sun in the afternoon. Since the vines are vigorous, a trellis should be provided before the planting.

Markets

Stocks picked up fractions to around two points in Wednesday's market in a slow recovery after three sessions of declines.

Steels and rails led the way in an early upturn although gains were scattered throughout the list. Some advances were trimmed slightly as demand lagged, but many issues more prosaically. He was joking, of course, because without more information, not even the pappy of all horticulturists, L. H. Bailey, could answer that one.

Attaining higher levels were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, and Inland Steel. Chesapeake, Ohio, American Telephone, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Telephone, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, DuPont, Texas Co., American Smelting, Woolworth and Allied Chemical.

Stocks edged up slowly Wednesday. Steel, Gas 6.5, International Telephone and U. S. Steel rose a point or so.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE
Stokes—higher; steels, rails lead advances. Bonds—irregular; prices change narrow. Cotton—firm; active trade and outside buying.

CHICAGO: Wheat—firm in very light trade. Corn—strong; export sales rumors. Oats—firm. Sugar—strong. Hogs—steady at ceiling prices; top $16.25. Cattle—steady to 25 cents higher; top $20.25.

Horn of Plenty
"Fiesta" was the theme used for the annual garden tour given by the grand president, Loretta Cameron of Twin Peaks Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, when she made her official visit to the president and members of the Odd Fellows Hall Parlor at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Members of the Redwood City drill team wearing Spanish shawls in "Fiesta" style escorted the president and her entourage to the hall. The table was set for a dinner, where refreshments were served. Mary Byrd was chairman of the committee.

Members of Redwood Parlor, Native Daughters, were also present to honor six grand officers.

Pres. Dolores Bozzo presented Mrs. Cameron with a donation from the children's fund. Loretta Cameron, charter member, spoke as did all of the visiting grand officers. Ethel Enos of Modesto, junior past president; Dorothy Donofrio of Daly City, grand trustee; Jewel McSwiney of San Francisco, grand trustee; Ruth Trousdale of San Francisco, grand outside sentinel; Francisco Sinis of San Francisco, grand organizer; Evelyn A. Carlson, past grand president; Mae Himes Noonan, past grand president; Marjorie Baker of Daly City, district deputy president; Helen Myer of Daly City, senior district deputy.

Mrs. Madeline Wallace was chairman of the evening.

FORUM LETTER TO THE EDITOR:
Apparently the residents of Lenol Tract have come to the cruel realization that annexation, to them, is a bad thing. They are so soft spoken words, is not all that it is cracked up to be however sweet may have been the wooing.

The honeymoon is definitely over and disillusionment has set in. When you realize that the guy you've married is a tightwad; won't even buy you a new paved street and upon inquiry you have discovered that the community law guaranteeing 50-50 interest to contracting parties does not apply in your case, except, of course as to loss and disbursement, and furthermore, if you want a new set of sidewalks and curbs and gutters you'll have to dig down in your own jeans to pay for them.

As early as 1940, developments were to the point that the new Sweet Peas were put in competition in the All-American Selections, under a trial name—and they won high honors. But Frank Cuthbertson still kept working, and then in 1944 and 1945 he sent seeds to the Scottish Sweet Pea Society where they were awarded gold and silver medals.

ASSORTED THOUGHTS OF A VAGRANT MIND: There are women who go through life keeping their ages secret, hoping this to palm themselves off as being younger than they are. And when their actual ages are announced in their obituaries, friends gasp in amazement, saying, "Why I would have thought she was much older." . . . The strangest news notice that one newspaperman can recall from his experience was the item in the Emporia Gazette in which a woman announced the marriage of her former husband to somebody else. . . . Waitresses in a certain Stockton hotel have cellophane pockets into which they drop the gratuities received. With the tips paid by others thus kept in plain sight, the "come-on" suggestion for others is very strong. . . . A favorite trick of some hat checkers is to start off with a few half dollars conspicuously placed (by themselves) in view of all comers, as a suggestion that smaller change is not expected. . . . At a railroad station the other day I saw a sight reminiscent of France: two grown men kissing each other goodbye. It was a nauseating procedure for the onlookers, and I should think it would have been even more so for the participants. . . . It is estimated by Dr. John F. Steen, president of the California State Dental Assn., that dentists in this state are outnumbered 1400 to 1 by their patients. With 2250 new dentists graduated each year, it would take five years before the situation could be alleviated. But fewer than 1750 are expected to be graduated this year. That is one reason why dental appointments are hard to make on a moment's notice. . . . Cato said, "I would rather men should ask why my statue is not set up, than why it is."

EVERHEARD REMARKS: "Everybody drives the car, but nobody takes care of it." "I have just broken up my daughter's first love affair. It took me a year to do it." "My grandmother was a preacher's wife back in Arkansas, and she always smoked a clay pipe." "But you've never had the responsibility of having to meet a regular weekly payroll." "Going to school nowadays isn't the inexpensive and simple thing it was in our day."

GARDEN ENTHUSIASTS in Pasadena hold an annual weed show, at which are exhibited pest plants that have decorative value. The snow-on-the-mountain (lepidena marginata to the botanists) that we cultivate in our gardens here is a weed in the fields in Nebraska and some other Midwestern states.

An engaged girl applying for a job in a business office was given a blank to fill out, and upon the girl saying "Married or single?" Being engaged, the girl pondered a moment, then wrote, "Practically married." San Francisco's police department again has reminded the city's dwellers and visitors alike that the law is being rigidly enforced requiring the wheels of parked cars to be blocked against the curbs, and the brakes to be set. . . . William James, noted psychologist, wrote, "We are not only gregarious animals, liking to be in sight of our fellows, but we have an innate propensity to get ourselves noticed, and noticed favorably, by our kind. No more friendly punishment could be devised, were such a thing physically possible, than that one should be turned loose in society and remain absolutely unnoticed by all the members thereof."

EVERY TIME I DROP into a telephone office and hear a message being relayed over the telephone, I marvel that the company does not provide an enclosed booth for that purpose. Why should private messages be read aloud in the presence of other people waiting at the counter? For all anyone knows, the very person to whom the sender would most be averse to having the secret imparted may be standing there. . . . A vacationist home from an extensive motor tour reports favorably on the courtesy of truck drivers in the states of Washington, Idaho and Montana. What impressed him particularly was the helpful service given by truck drivers when rounding curves or mounting the brow of a hill. By a double flick of the truck tail light the driver signals to cars behind him that all is clear ahead and he is safe to pass.

Most women when traveling include hatboxes in their luggage. The tendency, I have observed, is for them to pack along a hat for every day—as long as the supply lasts. The hatbox, need I add, must be carried very carefully—top side up, and never banged around. . . . Henry Clay said: "Government is a trust, and the officers of the government are trustees; and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people." Those are facts that the trustees sometimes seem to overlook.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "Write me a memo on that."

The Bandit Killers

John C. Defer and Edgar Milton Ellis, suspected bandit killers who were captured in San Bruno on Sept. 3, following the murder of a San Francisco automobile salesman during a robbery there, are going to fight to escape death in the gas chamber.

Late Tuesday afternoon the two men were brought before Superior Judge J. R. Fritz in San Francisco to enter a plea. Represented by the public defender, they asked for and secured a 30-day delay. The defender stated that the families of Defer and Ellis were securing funds to engage private attorneys to fight the charge they killed Joseph Klein, a car salesman.

Should the two escape the charge in San Francisco they will be re-arrested and turned over to San Bruno police who want them for the shooting of James W. Bedford, acting police chief in San Bruno. Bedford had captured Ellis and was shot through the jaw by Defer Sunday. His wounds but not captured several hours later in a San Bruno tavern.

Harry Hoeffler Honored
Harry Hoeffler of Redwood City has been elected vice president of the 20th (Peninsula) District of the California Real Estate Assn. He will succeed Louis Gairaud of San Jose, whose term expires Dec. 31.

Hoeffler's election took place Tuesday at the annual pre-convention banquet of 20th District realtors, held at the Villa Charle in San Mateo.

Hoeffler is a member of the South San Mateo County Real Estate Board. Plans for the California Real Estate Men's State Convention, scheduled for Sacramento Oct. 8, 9 and 10, were discussed during the business meeting following the dinner.

Guest of honor and speaker at the dinner was Hubert E. Scudler, a member of the State Real Estate Commission. More than 300 realtors from the Peninsula were in attendance.

S.F. Man Arrested
Allen J. Ross, 35, of San Francisco, was in county jail Wednesday charged with drunken driving. He was arrested Tuesday by Hwy. Patrolman Roy Edwards in South San Francisco.

Ross, a machinist, is to come before Justice of the Peace John J. Fahey Jr. in South San Francisco on Oct. 10. Bail was set at $100.

A New San Carlos Firm
A permit for the construction of a $60,000 electronic factory, to be located at 1105 Old County Rd., San Carlos was issued Tuesday to the Lenox Electric Co. of San Francisco by San Carlos Bldg. Insp. O. W. Stewart.

The company will manufacture electronic carrier equipment for use in the telephone and telegraph industries. Stewart said.

The $60,000 construction valuation gives the month of October a head start on the building barometer. After September's figures of $25,800 showed a decrease in building in the city, Stewart said.

General Bradley Here
Gen. Omar Bradley, head of the U. S. Veterans Administration, who is in San Francisco at the American Legion convention, will make an official inspection of the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital, it was announced Wednesday by A. W. Waldron, manager.

General Bradley and his official party will arrive about noon and will be entertained at luncheon by Mr. Waldron and then will inspect the Willow Rd. installation. The VA chief is expected to remain at the hospital for several hours, conversing with the staff members and patients.

Stolen Car Returned
Half an hour after was stolen from a parking place on Broadway at El Camino Real a car owned by Raymond Wilkins, 1536 San Carlos Ave., San Carlos, was recovered by a California Highway Patrolman on La Canada Rd. Wednesday.

Driving the "hot" car were three juveniles who were taken into custody by Redwood City police. The auto was taken at 10:55 a.m.

vate in our gardens here is a weed in the fields in Nebraska and some other Midwestern states. An engaged girl applying for a job in a business office was given a blank to fill out, and upon the girl saying "Married or single?" Being engaged, the girl pondered a moment, then wrote, "Practically married." San Francisco's police department again has reminded the city's dwellers and visitors alike that the law is being rigidly enforced requiring the wheels of parked cars to be blocked against the curbs, and the brakes to be set. . . . William James, noted psychologist, wrote, "We are not only gregarious animals, liking to be in sight of our fellows, but we have an innate propensity to get ourselves noticed, and noticed favorably, by our kind. No more friendly punishment could be devised, were such a thing physically possible, than that one should be turned loose in society and remain absolutely unnoticed by all the members thereof."

EVERY TIME I DROP into a telephone office and hear a message being relayed over the telephone, I marvel that the company does not provide an enclosed booth for that purpose. Why should private messages be read aloud in the presence of other people waiting at the counter? For all anyone knows, the very person to whom the sender would most be averse to having the secret imparted may be standing there. . . . A vacationist home from an extensive motor tour reports favorably on the courtesy of truck drivers in the states of Washington, Idaho and Montana. What impressed him particularly was the helpful service given by truck drivers when rounding curves or mounting the brow of a hill. By a double flick of the truck tail light the driver signals to cars behind him that all is clear ahead and he is safe to pass.

Most women when traveling include hatboxes in their luggage. The tendency, I have observed, is for them to pack along a hat for every day—as long as the supply lasts. The hatbox, need I add, must be carried very carefully—top side up, and never banged around. . . . Henry Clay said: "Government is a trust, and the officers of the government are trustees; and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people." Those are facts that the trustees sometimes seem to overlook.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "Write me a memo on that."

THE SUGAR SHORTAGE
The amount of sugar available for civilian use this year will be slightly higher than the 1945 supply, but still one million tons below prewar consumption, according to a local OPA announcement Wednesday.

The reason for the shortage, according to the OPA, is the fact that the Philippines, Java, and the sugar beet producing countries of Europe have not supplied us with any sugar since the war began. The Cuban sugar cane crop, our largest source of supply, was reduced this year by a drought.

The Philippines prior to the war shipped us approximately one million tons of sugar annually, but we have had no shipments since 1942. Their sugar plantations were destroyed and must be replanted, and since the first harvest cannot be made until two years after planting, we will not receive shipments from that source even in moderate quantities until 1948, the announcement declared.

More than 300 realtors from the Peninsula were in attendance.

Hillsborough News
Two new councilmen and a city judge were appointed by the Hillsborough City Council Monday night. Jean Trabucco resigned as city councilman and was appointed city judge, succeeding the late Arthur H. Stetson.

Sidney W. Miller, 468 El Centro Rd., was appointed to the council to succeed Trabucco. Bernard W. Ford, 2135 Keston Ave., was appointed to the council to succeed Miller. John H. Davis, who resigned last month.

Miller and Ford are long-time residents of Hillsborough. Both are members of investment firms in San Francisco.

Trabucco, an attorney with office in San Francisco, is a member of a pioneer group of San Francisco who were instrumental in the city's development.

His father was for many years superior judge in Marin County and one of the founders of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

At the School Conclave
Supt. A. C. Argo of the Sequoia High School Dist. and Supt. Andrew J. Spinas of the Redwood City Elementary School System are attending a convention of the Assn. of California Public School Superintendents.

According to Spinas, one of the main problems to be dealt with at the convention will be the new law, is endorsement of proposition 3 on the Nov. 5 ballot. This proposition calls for a minimum salary of $2400 per year for full-time teachers, and state support of the public schools at a rate of $120 per pupil for every pupil in average daily attendance.

At the Fiesta

FRANCES FRYER
Demonstrations of weaving were performed Tuesday at the San Mateo County Fiesta by two San Carlos members of the Weavers of the Round Table Guild of the Peninsula—Mrs. C. A. Phelan and Mrs. Ferd Prince, who were seated before a large loom in an attractively arranged booth. A background woven wall hanging had the motto "Weave Wisps of Weft into Song."

Mrs. Phelan, who wore a handsome orchid corsage, tied with deep red fuchsia shade satin ribbon, which had been presented to her from among the flowers flown here from South America, gave examples of weaving of mats and rugs. Mrs. Prince displayed handwoven linen towels and aprons. Work by other members arranged in the booth showed drapes, suiting material and small articles such as book marks and unusual woven Christmas cards. Another from San Carlos who belongs to the guild is Mrs. Fred Drake.

Table settings to two card tables in the corner are changed each day. Tuesday, barbecue dinner, a course weaving was featured. The work received numerous ribbon awards for excellence in different classifications.

In the outdoor gardens the San Carlos Civic Garden Club won an award of $10 for first prize in the "Hobby Garden" division. Depicting a rustic setting, the theme of a South American garden was carried out. Purple and yellow plants in the South were used as background. Bright orange flowers were in bloom along the path. The scene showed a carved natural wood bench over which was draped a smock, near this was an easel with a garden scene reproduced on the canvas.

The bench was the work of Mrs. Dorothy Baker while the painting was done by Mrs. James Hugh Marquis. Mrs. Lawrence Desmond was chairman and was helped by Meses. Edwin Lobazin, Louise Zemke and Claire Ennis.

The garden club also was represented by arrangements by individual members. Mrs. Carlos Casuso received third prize for her formal table setting of service for six. A table with gold edged dishes and glassware for six was featured. Shaggy pale pink and white chrysanthemums in a white and gilt bowl surrounded by gilt paper leaves and tapering candles. The table settings were with an embroidered grasscloth cover.

Mrs. George Maltman, past president of the club, made several flower arrangements and won a first prize for a married grouping. From Redwood City, Mrs. C. H. Fuschon of Edgewood Rd., had numerous original and attractive flower settings, taking several ribbons.

Woodside Church
The Woodside Congregational Church Women opened their fall season with a picnic on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Christensen, whose property boasts a redwood grove. Assisting Mrs. Christensen as hostesses were Mrs. Walter Allen, Mrs. James Cochran and Mrs. E. J. Bonanfant.

Following the luncheon the president, Mrs. Bonanfant, conducted the business meeting. Plans were discussed for the bazaar and rummage sale to be held Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Guild Hall.

Miss M. Josselyn is in charge of the affair; Mrs. L. J. Johns, the needlework table; Mrs. J. Cochran, cook book sale, and Mrs. Christensen, food table.

A meeting will be held on Nov. 21 at 1 o'clock at the Guild Hall. All members have been requested to bring their "Thank Box" offerings to this meeting, it was announced.

A Christian Rally
Maj. Harry Larsen of the San Francisco Salvation Army, speaker at the "Youth for Christ" rally here Saturday night, brought with him from San Francisco 26 members of the Salvation Army, including a group of cadets.

The cadets played in the band and individual members provided special numbers. Singing was led by Everett Carlson, chairman of the Redwood City Youth for Christ Committee. Joyce Shakarian played the organ and Marilyn Dahlin was at the piano.

Prayers were led by the Rev. Walter B. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Charles E. Hannan, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Sam Stevens of the Full Gospel Church.

Service Discontinued
Night service along Route C, San Carlos to Palo Alto, of the Martin Transportation Co. will be discontinued after Oct. 7 and from that date the last bus over the route will leave Redwood City at 6:30 p.m. R. F. Martin, owner of the company, announced Tuesday.

Martin stated that the reason for discontinuing the service was due to the steadily decreasing number of passengers using that route at night. No definite date has been set for resuming the service.

Jewish Council
The California Peninsula Section of the Council of Jewish Women have planned a fall membership tea on Thurs., Oct. 10, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. M. Triemer, 1301 Chestnut St., San Carlos. The Ray and Group of San Francisco will read a current New York state production during the afternoon.
